

Job Description

Project Manager

Candy London (formerly Candy & Candy) is seeking a Project Manager to join its team in London potentially with frequent international travel required.

Candy London is the world's pre-eminent development manager and interior designer, recognised globally for setting unparalleled new standards in luxury property design and development. Operating at the highest level of luxury, the brand is synonymous with exceptional design and intricate attention to detail, creating trophy homes and managing outstanding development projects across the world.

We are looking for a Project Manager with three-years' experience and a passion for project management and luxury residential property. This role will involve working directly within the Project Management team to support the delivery of a growing pipeline.

This role offers a great opportunity for an individual to work on a variety of challenging yet rewarding projects, gaining excellent exposure on planning, design, and construction delivery with a strong emphasis on Prime Central London residential developments. There is an excellent package to be offered and a unique opportunity to grow their career within an award-winning luxury property developer.

Responsibilities:

- Overseeing construction phases.
- Assist the investment team in assessing new site opportunities.
- Manage multidisciplinary teams, including main contractors, sub-contractors, consultants.
- Work closely with the internal operations, sales & marketing, legal, investment and finance teams.
- Prepare and report on project budgets, cash flow and forecasts.

- Provide input into legal contracts related to acquisition, development, construction, and consultancy agreements.
- Implement development policies and procedures.
- Prepare monthly reports to investors.

Ideal Skills, Experience and Qualifications:

- A minimum of three years' experience working within a developer, investor, operate or consultancy.
- Industry qualifications (MRICS, RIBA etc).
- A degree in a property or management related field preferred.
- Previous experience in project management or a similar role.
- Experience working in Prime Central London.
- Excellent communication skills, both verbal and written.
- Proficient in Microsoft Office and project management software.
- Mathematically and financially minded.
- Highly organised and able to multitask.
- Strong attention to detail and problem-solving skills.

Please send CV and portfolio of work to recruitment@candyldn.com